Leaving TRAVERSE CITY—From Hannah, Lay, & Co.'s docks, every Tuesday afternoon, at 7 o'clock, for Chicago.

Through first class fare, including meals and berths, $6 00.

For freight or passage apply to Clerk on board, or to Hannah, Lay & Co., either at Chicago, (P. O. Drawer 5848,) or at Traverse City, Mich., (Drawer 7.)

The City of Traverse is a new boat, this being her first season. There are but few larger, and no better, boats on the lakes. Therefore, as neither money nor pains have been spared in fitting up her cabins and state rooms with all modern improvements and first-class furnishings, she offers to pleasure seekers and to the traveling public in general, accommodations which, in point of both safety and comfort, are seldom equaled.

FINE DRESS SUIT.

Why I can afford to furnish a suit of clothes to order for less money than any one else in Traverse City:

Having bought my stock of Cloths and Trimmings before the late advance in prices; bought for cash at lowest figures possible; acting as my own salesman, requiring no percentage to pay for selling my goods, combining fair profits with my own labor, which no one but myself controls, making a good thing for myself, and giving a man a chance to save from $5 to $15 on a suit of clothes, or on a single garment in proportion.

Cloths and trimmings will be sold without being made up. No extra charge for cutting.

A good fit always guaranteed.

Shirts, Drawers and Over Alls furnished to order.

One and all come and examine for yourselves, believe no false representations made by illegitimate aspirants to the trade.

Poetry.

The Hermit.

"An old hermit there was, and he lived in a cave,
And the way to be happy, 'twas said he could pave.
Wanting sorely to learn it, I went to his cell,
And no sound was there till the hermit said, "Well,
I perceive by your looks you all something, young man;
Tell me, then, all your wants, I'll befriend if I can."
"Why, dear hermit," I answered, "you guess very right,
And I'll tell you the cause of this visit to-night.
The true way to be happy I hear you can teach.
Which I want much to learn, so entreat you to preach,
Or, if simple, I beg you will write me the plan,
In plain, and clear characters, short as you can."
Upon this the old hermit he took up his pen,
Wrote these lines, and said, "Read them again and again:"
"It is BEING, and DOING, and HAVING, that make
All the pleasures and pains of which mortals partake;
NOW TO BE what God pleases, TO DO a man's best,
And to HAVE a good heart, is THE WAY TO BE BLEST."

Miscellaneous.

Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors for the County of Leelanau.

At an adjourned session of the Board of Supervisors for the County of Leelanau convened and held at the County Clerk's Office in the village of Northport on the second day of January, A. D. 1871.

A Touching Home Picture.

Here is a picture from the story of a lady whose home was burned at Chicago: "There came a strange sound in the air which stilled, or seemed to still, for a moment the surging crowd. 'Was it thunder?' we asked. 'No, the sky was clear and full of stars, and we shuddered as we felt, but did not say, that it was a tremendous explosion of gunpowder. By this time the blazing spark and bits of burning wood, which we had been fearfully watching, were fast coming an unintermitting fire of burning hail, and another shower of blows on the doors warned us that there was not a moment to be lost. Crying to the maiden: do not act wholly crazed, and I will try to save one poor little child.' My sister flew to some upper precious charge, and I ran down stairs, repeating to myself to make no mistake, for I loved silver, jewelry, all things, as the order in which we would try to save our property, if it came to be so. As I passed through our pretty parlor, how my heart ached. Here the remnant of my father's library, a copy of a Bible printed in 1657, on one table—on another, my dear Mrs. Browning, in five volumes, the gift of a lost friend. What should I leave? What should I leave? Laden with gift after gift, I hurried down in despair. Love's pictures and statuettes, left by a kind friend for the embellishment of our little home, and which had turned them into a bower of beauty, must they be left? At last I stopped before our darling, a sweet as Murillo's picture of Beatrice Cenci going to the convention, which looked down at me through the dismal red glare which was already filling the rooms, with a saintly and wondering sadness that seemed
